As the parties have repeatedly represented to the Court, they are confident that the trial, which is scheduled to begin on Monday, March 18th, will last only five days. However, if for some reason, the trial continues into the following week, the parties respectfully request that no trial be conducted on Monday, March 25th or Tuesday, March 26th. The Jewish holiday of Passover begins on March 25th, with important ceremonies occurring on the 25th and 26th. Counsel for the government, Marc Price Wolf, has longstanding plans to spend the holiday with his family in Los Angeles and would like to be able to attend. The defendant does not oppose

STIPULATION AND ~~[PROPOSED]~~ ORDER RE TRIAL SCHEDULE

1 this request. The government does not make this request lightly as it realizes that the Court
2 operates under a very busy schedule. Hopefully this requested accommodation will not disrupt
3 the Court's schedule too much.
